

GVHC, Theater Top GCS Agenda

GCS directors set June 4 for the next membership meeting, with arrangements handled by the education and membership committees which reported to the board meeting in Takoma last Friday. Key subjects on the agenda will include both the approaching sale of Greenbelt and its effect upon the commercial property; recent action on the Greenbelt theatre; and election of a new auditing committee.

According to director Henry Walter, the board has given a great deal of thought to the question "how best to act in the interests of the co-op and its membership" in relation to the sale and will discuss the alternatives open to the co-op in this situation.

Discussion on the theatre will center on board action taken last April authorizing theatre manager Jack Fruchtman to experiment with closing the theatre 3 nights during the week, subject to final approval by the membership. Only two reports, those of the president and the treasurer, will be made, after which queries from the floor will be in order. The single door prize will be a man's tropical suit.

Personnel Expert Authorized

Sam Ashelman, general manager, reported that he had located an experienced personnel expert who resides in the Washington area and is available on a part-time basis to organize a scientific personnel program for GCS. Sam Schwimer, Board member, and others said that the need for such a program had been apparent for a long time. The board unanimously authorized Ashelman to employ her to set up procedures and records for personnel classification, training, and recruitment.

Operating Problems

The meeting was held in the community room at the Takoma Park variety-drug store, and a considerable period was devoted to analysis of the Takoma Park operations.

Morris J. Solomon, chairman of the store operations and price policy committee, described the inventory control system used in the two variety stores, and pointed out that the records were not as complete in some respects as they might be. Ashelman maintained that these records were kept in sufficient detail to serve most of the purposes for which they were intended.

The board, by a vote of 4 to 2, instructed management to report at the next business meeting on possible improvements in inventory control procedures.

Board member Sam Schwimer announced that he will attend the summer co-op institute at Amherst, Mass.

Memorial Day Program

Memorial Services will be held at Centerway at 11:00 Friday morning. There will be a brief parade consisting of the town band, boy scouts, girl scouts, and cub scouts.

Harry K. Lines from Laurel will be the guest speaker. Catholic Chaplain Anglus P. Diener, from Walter Reed will deliver the benediction.

Our own post 136 of the American Legion will start a living memorial at Centerway made up of plants and shrubs.

Annual Girl Scout Day Camp Begins

Approximately 450 Prince Georges County Girl Scouts of Brownie and Intermediate rank will attend day camp this summer at Camp Conestoga in the Greenbelt tract. Registration closes on June 1, and the first session opens June 17, closing June 26, with eight camp days in the period. Second session runs June 30 through July 3, and July 7 through July 10; the third opens July 14 and holds four days in each of the two weeks, closing July 24.

Of the more than 40 adults who are already on the list of volunteers who will serve as counselors and leaders for one or more of the three sessions, Mrs. Margaret Perkins is the sole member from Greenbelt as of the last report.

In the day camp program, campers arrive each morning, bringing their lunches, and return home in the evening, with the exception of the three last nights of the sessions when an "overnight" is scheduled for those of Intermediate rank who have had a least a year of scouting. Some cookouts may be held, the girls who take part paying a small fee for food supplies.

The camp fee, and transportation fee for those who require it, are kept low so that all girls may take advantage of the camp experience. The adults who assist receive no compensation. Girl Scouts of senior rank may attend as program aides, and their help is welcomed.

Outdoor cookery, nature study, handicraft, conservation of natural resources, and group recreation are among the skills furthered by the camp program. Care of the camp site is stressed.

Rain Ended, Ball In Play

By Bill Moore

After many delays due to over-activity on the part of Jupe Pluvius the Little League finally pried the lid off the 1952 baseball season last Thursday. Mayor Frank Lastner threw a perfect strike to Councilman James D. Wolfe and the umpire-City Manager Charles T. McDonald concurred with a loud, "Stee-rike." Catcher Wolfe then tossed a blooper amidst the combined squads of the Opening Day contenders which young Rickie Emmert retrieved happily, despite a bloodied nose.

Pre-game ceremonies over, the pint-sized athletes settled down to perform well for some 200 spectators. Don McDonald, son of the old Greenbelt Shamrock star Micky McDonald, taking the cue from ceded to strike out 17 batters to spark his College Park Legion to a 4-0 win over the defending champion Izaak Waltons.

Friday found Jim Ewing's Bowlers bowling over Chet Speziale's Indians like ten-pins. The Redskins bit the dust to a 13-0 tune. The big news about this game was Ronnie Newman, who entered Little League Hall of Fame with a no-hit, no-run pitching job. He struck out 14 Indians en route to his big win. Larry Mogavero's three two-baggers made him the batting star and Eddie Wilkerson supported with three for four.

Greenbelt Legion Red Birds and Bernie Emmert's Co-Op nine were rained out Monday.

Tuesday's game was victory number two for Donnie McDonald as he struck out ten more men to spark the College Park Legion to a 15-1 victory over the Bowlers. Losing pitcher Ron Newman struck out 13 men but his downfall was the 17 walks he gave up. Don Estep and McDonald solved Newman for two hits apiece.

NOTES: There will be three games at the Little League field this Saturday starting at 9:30 a.m.

Mayor Lastner presented the Commissioner's Trophy to Gary "Butch" Brown at the opening game as Most Valuable Player in the Little League last season while performing for George Preston's Izaak Walton.

SUMMER RECREATION

The summer recreation program, under the direction of Donnie Wolfe, will open June 16 with an extensive schedule.

Fishing school for boys and girls of all ages will begin as soon as the lake reopens. Donnie Wolfe will be headmaster, and there will be contests for the first fish, the most fish, and the largest fish caught.

Tumbling will be taught by Mrs. Wolfe in the Center School auditorium. Date of registration and class days will be announced later.

Junior and senior life-saving classes will be taught by Wolfe on Saturday mornings. Wolfe will also hold archery classes on Braden Field for people of all ages.

An Arts and Crafts class will be held at the Center School in the mornings if a teacher can be enlisted. Anyone interested in teaching this class, please contact Donnie Wolfe at the City Office, GR-2011. Model airplane and train clubs will be formed under the guidance of D. Wolfe, if space can be found to house them.

Tennis also will be taught, with classes open for all ages—teacher not definite.

Billed Double Feature Cancelled; Mike Vs. Steve For Oscar Award

By I. J. Parker

No movie in the Greenbelt theater was ever more dramatic or exciting than the real-life drama last Thursday night at the membership meeting of the Greenbelt Veterans Housing Corporation. The coming attractions announced a special meeting at 10:30 p.m., but the billing was suddenly changed at the last moment to "RUMP SESSION," starring Steve Comings.

Center PTA Elects

At its final meeting on Tuesday the Center School PTA elected the following officers: Mrs. Marion Kuster, president; Cyril Kovalchick, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Wiram, secretary; and Mrs. Gretchen Eanes, treasurer. The new officers were installed by Bruce Bowman, past president of the County Council PTA, who assured the membership that great strides have been made by the County Board of Education, and that the Greenbelt schools rate high scholastically among the schools in Prince Georges County.

Ben Goldfaden showed a film about the county recreation program and discussed plans to include Greenbelt in its activities.

After the installation of officers the meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

Housing Board Defeats Special Meeting Motion

Six GVHC directors at the regular Monday night board meeting defeated a motion by Burgoon asking for another special membership meeting to be called by the board "on or about June 15 . . . to give all Greenbelters an opportunity to air their views." In the presence of councilman Steve Comings, recognized leader of GVHC opposition, opponents of the motion declared that the measures intended for the cancelled special meeting would no longer be applicable after May 31 and that requests must come from the membership. With Long and Bukzin absent, the vote was a tie, with Bowman, Ritchie and Salzman against and Bordonet, Beckham and Burgoon for the motion. In accord with Beckham's request, the matter will be taken up again at the next board meeting, June 2.

In response to the city's council request, presented by City Manager McDonald last Thursday, for a meeting with GVHC before the deadline date, arrangements were made for a joint session of GVHC and city council committees tonight. Council has asked for discussion of the referendum and an extension of time for residents.

During discussion of the activities of the public relations committee under the aegis of John Beckham, it was clarified that a current member of GVHC (i. e. who has paid the $11 membership fee) who does not pay his $100 good-faith deposit by May 31 retains his membership but loses priority on his dwelling. Such a member's status is unchanged until the corporation signs a preliminary contract with PHA.

In the absence of two of its members, the board tabled election of a director to replace Earl Thomas, who resigned two weeks ago, until the next meeting when the item will take top billing on the agenda.

Confronted with the problem of the disposal of open garages, those present voted to adopt rental occupancy according to he priority list established for housing.

Mike Salzman, GVHC president and star, began at 10:30 by requesting a legal opinion from Abe Chasanow, GVHC legal counsel and bit player. Cast as a supporting player but giving a stellar performance, Chasanow stated that the membership was not notified ten days prior to the meeting which therefore was a contradiction to the by-laws. Salzman then declared the meeting "illegal."

Comings Wagers

Suddenly, supporters of Comings, originator of the petition to hold the special meeting, beseeched him to mount the stage and address an informal meeting. The crowd, already near the exits, turned back and seated themselves. Comings then recounted the history of his petition with a flash-back technique. He had requested the meeting for May 11. It was called for May 22; why not May 26? He explained the 11th was the "cut-off" date for resident priority at that time. Did board members still doubt he had 1000 signatures on a petition he had circulated through the city? He wagered $200 that he did. Were they disreputable people? All of the city council signed except the mayor and he was not asked. He did not attend a meeting with PHA because of inability to take leave from a new federal job; besides, he was not notified of the meeting date. He accused the GVHC board of "pressuring" the citizens into joining the housing corporation. Admitting that the by-laws should not be overstepped, Comings questioned the legality of the last membership vote on the 533 resident-membership figure.

In the face of cat-calls and jeers from the back-seat audience, Comings took an informal "non-voting card" vote on the controversial membership figure. It came out about even. (In the earlier regular meeting, it was apparent that the audience would have overwhelmingly defeated the measure to raise the resident - membership quota to 800.) Finally, he asked for suggestions from the group to fight the sale of Greenbelt homes.

Chasnow Declares

Chasnow rose to declare that he had no alternative but to declare the meeting illegal. However, he would do all in his power to see that Comings got "his day in court," even though he would personally vote against the measure. He suggested that any member can get an item on the agenda of any meeting by getting ten member-signatures on a petition.

With no other suggestions forthcoming, the meeting broke up into small groups in and outside the theater. Critical opinion favored Comings' performance, considering the lack of rehearsal. In a statement after the meeting, Comings declared that the decision to cancel the meeting was "disgusting" and he doubted Greenbelt would be a happy place to live, if sold to GVHC. He added that GVHC made a dreadful mistake, and seems to be doing everything to antagonize the residents.

Nearby, one member of the board stated that "citizens now have a choice between two unethical groups." (Curtain.)

Vol. 16 Thursday, May 29, 1952 No. 41

Straight From The Shoulder

GVHC has been unfortunate in its public relations with residents in the past. We thought it couldn't get worse but last Thursday's illegal meeting proved us wrong. In a comedy of errors the board, attempting to "bend over backward" to satisfy an articulate minority, accepted a date for a special meeting for which it was practically impossible to give sufficient notice.

The effect on many members wholeheartedly devoted to the idea of mutual housing for Greenbelt was to lower an already failing confidence in the board.

Now that the damage has been done many realize that the dubious meeting should not have been called; that the Comings petition should have been rejected with the advice to submit a workable date; that at least an informal discussion should have been conducted in place of the planned special meeting.

But the board, rather than accept its portion of responsibility for the ensuing farce, refused to call another meeting so that the disputed issues and others could be debated under legal circumstances. Their refusal appears to rest largely on the assumption that after the May 31 deadline the questions of resident quotas and extensions of priority time will be dead, according to terms PHA will most certainly dictate.

Once upon a time the GVHC board was praised by PHA for its outstanding rapport with its membership. Today — on the eve of preliminary success — the GVHC is neglecting to consider in all negotiations the directives of its membership.

We still believe GVHC is the best answer available to the disposal of Greenbelt. The goal of 533 resident-members is being achieved in a whirlwind finish. Another 30-day extension from PHA is needed to sign up outside buyers. We believe — no matter what temporary difficulty in setting up priority lists is involved — another meeting should be called (legally) to consider the issues already petitioned for. We believe that the GVHC board ought to trust to democratic procedures among its membership to direct its actions.

A motion for such a meeting was denied by a tie vote of the six directors present at this week's meeting. It will reappear on the agenda Monday night. We urge members to attend that board meeting and show the interest in their rights a responsible board ought to recognize.

Letters To Editor

What Next?

Greenbelt will be sold, if not through GVHC to the residents, then to the highest qualifying bidder. Many residents prefer to take advantage now of this opportunity to buy their own home. Others prefer to rent rather than buy their homes at this time. Still, others would like to have the opportunity to buy remain open to them for a reasonable period. Provided there is sincerity and consideration for those with opposing points of view, all three of these aims can be successfully fulfilled.

At this moment only GVHC has a plan of operation and an organized aim. At present PHA can deal only with the residents through GVHC, and so petitions intended to stop either PHA or GVHC only help insure a new landlord and at least 25% higher rent. Furthermore, such misguided attempts demonstrate a lack of workable plans and responsibility. On the other hand, if GVHC lacks full knowledge of or interest in the three opposite aims of residents, it is obvious GVHC alone cannot bring about a harmonious solution.

Broadening the already organized aims of GVHC will meet the needs of the three main groups of residents. It is known that financial assistance for GVHC in carrying out a broadened and correspondingly more acceptable plan can be obtained. No unsurmountable legal problems appear to exist. Even ultimate private ownership, insofar as physically possible and practical, can be accomplished under such a program. Time is running out for each of the three groups of residents as well as for PHA, and so what next?

Two things are needed quickly and concurrently as follows: (1) Eight hundred families with faith in ultimate democratic solution of our problems, who will sign up now before we all lose the opportunity to see our desires carried out. To delay this necessary step beyond Saturday, May 31, jeopardizes your home regardless of which of the three groups of residents you represent. (2) Leadership among the three factions, sufficiently interested in the future of Greenbelt to sit down together and work out the details quickly.

Fish at Last

By E. Don Bullian

One of the most elaborate projects of the Greenbelt Izaak Walton League, the draining and restocking of the lake, finally became history when the last barrel of fish was dropped into the lake last Saturday by representatives of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission. Mayor Lastner accepted the fish with a few well-chosen words, in the name of the City of Greenbelt and the Izaak Walton League.

It was the last step in a job that started some months ago with many misgivings. There were many doubts in the minds of the members who initiated the project at a meeting of the Greenbelt Chapter. They were not sure how far the State could or would go in such a plan. How much money would be needed? Would the City Council favor the idea? etc. Everyone, however, seemed to like the idea and actually went out of their way to help. The City Council was exceptionally cooperative, and unanimous in approval of the plan. The League's meeting with the City Council removed all financial fears. The only expense involved was to be the purchase of fertilizer and that has been taken care of by a fund-raising campaign (we hope).

It is for this type of activity that the Izaak Walton League was organized. The Greenbelt Chapter is proud of the part it has taken in making the Greenbelt Lake a better place in which it and the entire community can fish to their hearts' content. The completion of this project should remove the complaint of our would-be fishermen that there are no fish in the lake. We know they are there—we saw them put in! So if you don't catch them, join the Izaak Walton League and we will show you how to fish.

Incidentally, the crab feast following the re-stocking activities was highly successful, at least from a social point of view.

Personals

Miss Thelma Blauw, who formerly lived with her sister, Miss Jeanne Blauw, on Parkway, passed away Tuesday, May 20 in Denver, Colorado. Miss Blauw moved to Denver with the Air Force in March 1951. Funeral services will be held at her former home in Holland, Michigan.

Corpl. William Sweeney, former GCS food store employee, fireman and Rescue Squad member, who returned 10 days ago on leave from Korea, is now hospitalized at Ford Meade. All his friends may write to him at Ward 13.

Band To Perform For Memorial Day

Next appearance of the Greenbelt Community Band will be in the Greenbelt Memorial Day Exercises tomorrow morning. Billy Baxter, former member of the band, will play Taps.

A regular quarterly meeting of the Band Parents Board will be held Wednesday evening, June 4, at the Center School. Parents of the Majorettes are requested to attend this meeting also, as matters of importance to both groups are to be acted upon.

It has been suggested that the talents of the members of the Northwestern Band, and other students, be utilized, and membership be opened to adults during the summer months. Old Greenbelt Band members would, by this action, have an opportunity to rehearse with the Band on Monday nights and add considerably to the band concerts scheduled for the summer.

Lutherans Eat Annual Strawberries Thursday

Members and friends of the Lutheran Church will be served all the cake, ice cream, and fresh strawberries they can eat by the members of the Lydia Guild and Men's Club at the annual Strawberry Festival. This event will be held on the church property Thursday evening, June 5, beginning at 6 p.m., and lasting until dark. Those desiring to inspect the church construction will be given an opportunity to do so at that time.

Boys Club Activities

By Lee

Despite the weather our baseball season has opened up at last, and the boys are really happy about it. The Boys' Club is endeavoring to have a total of five ball teams playing this season. The Midgets (known as the Cardinals), the Intermediates (Bluejays), the Juniors (Orioles), and a senior team not yet organized are the four teams originally planned. To clarify the above: the Midgets are boys 13 and under; the Intermediates are 14 and under; the Juniors are 16 and under; and the seniors 18 and under; all ages as of the first of January, 1952. Our fifth team will be an additional Intermediate team, to take care of the large number of boys out for baseball in that age group.

The Midgets have played seven games already, won five of them and lost two. They were defeated by a Washington Boys' Club team 5 - 4, and after defeating Takoma Park 3 - 2 in their first game they lost to Takoma Park in their second game last Sunday, 10 - 11. None of these were County League games. All teams were to have opened up in the County League last week (The Intermediates on Monday, Juniors Tuesday and Midgets Wednesday) but due to inclement weather only one game was played. The Juniors played against Green Meadows Friday evening and got off to a bad start by losing 8 - 1. The boys haven't got their hitting eye yet but will give a good account of themselves as the season goes on.

Next week we hope to be able to print a schedule so that those desiring to see the various teams play will know when they are playing at home and can come

Anglers Alerted For June Fishing

The Izaak Walton League has scheduled its first fishing trip of the season for Sunday, June 8. Present tentative plans call for departure from Deale, on Chesapeake Bay, in one of the larger fishing boats, for about eight hours of fishing. Reservations will be limited to nine, the capacity of the boat. It is advisable to make reservations early, as five have already been accepted. Membership requirements have been waived for this trip. A second boat will be scheduled if enough requests are received to fill it.

The Fishing Committee feels it will have no difficulty in limiting the costs of the entire trip to five dollars per person, which will include boat, bait and refreshments. Every fisherman, however, is expected to bring his own lunch and fishing equipment.

Members and prospective members interested in making the trip should call GR-8746.

down. All Boys' Club games are played at a Braden Field.

Little League baseball got off to a good start. The bowlers in their opening game slugged a 13 to 0 win over the Indians. Highlight of the game was the no-hit pitching of Ronnie Newman, the Bowlers' ace, who struck out 14 men. The boys banged out a total of 14 hits for a total of 24 bases. Mogevoro's three doubles led the winners' attack.

My Daze

(with apologies to Eleanor)

Did you hear the one about the Englishman who went sightseeing in the U. S.? He was shown around a canning plant where someone remarked, "Americans are ingenious. They eat what they can, and what they can't, they can." The Englishman went home all enthused, and lost no time in reporting, "Americans are ingenious. They eat what they're able, and what they can't they put in tin boxes." It was no doubt the same Britisher who when taking a cab in N. Y. was regaled with this riddle, "It's not my sister, and it's not my brother, and yet it's the child of my father and mother. Who is it?" the answer of course being, "Myself." The Englishman sprung this on his pals, and was delighted when they had no answer to "Who is it?" Triumphantly he capped the riddle with, "It's the taxicab driver in New York." All this is like the spelling lesson our five-year-old Eugene's contemporary, Rocky gave him, and what came of it. At breakfast one morning Eugene flabbergasted me by spelling aloud "R-O-C-K-Y." He looked very pleased as he added, "That spells Eugene." Bright boy — Rocky, that is.

Get active chlorophyll in your toothpaste

Chlorodent brings you active chlorophyll

It's no trick at all to add chlorophyll* to toothpaste. The problem is to make the chlorophyll active... instantly available when you brush your teeth.

This takes a special "activating" ingredient. The vital activator used in Chlorodent is patented (U. S. Patent #2216816). No other dentifrice can use it. You can be sure when you use Chlorodent that all of chlorophyll's benefits are put to work.

Here's your visible proof of active chlorophyll:

Note that Chlorodent deeply colors your brush with nature's leaf-green chlorophyll color. This rich "chlorophyll-green" shows that you are getting active chlorophyll... to give you a clean fresh mouth all day!

No other toothpaste can offer this proof!

* water-soluble chlorophylline

Clean Fresh Mouth All Day Long!

Chlorodent was used in hundreds of tests on people with bad breath. When they brushed their teeth with Chlorodent, their mouth odor disappeared. Two hours later, their breath was still clean in 98% of the cases. Four hours later (end of test), 74% were still free of bad breath. By using Chlorodent regularly—preferably after meals—you can be free of mouth odor all day! Ask for Chlorodent today!

Now strike at the very causes of TOOTH DECAY!

Chlorodent reduces mouth acids that "eat" into tooth enamel... and the bacteria which cause them. Keeps teeth so clean that bacteria find it difficult to multiply. No toothpaste offers better protection!

Half of all tooth losses caused by GUM TROUBLES!

An estimated 50% of all tooth loss can be traced to conditions which start with sore, bleeding gums. Chlorodent promotes the growth of firm, healthy-pink tissue. If you have tender gums, be sure to use Chlorodent!
